

Position: Academic Support Teacher

- 1 full-time opening

Marquette University High School (MUHS), a Jesuit college-preparatory school for boys, is seeking an Academic Support Teacher for the upcoming 2022-23 school year.

The ideal candidate will have experience working with students who require targeted learning support and have familiarity with a broad range of high school curriculum. Freshmen and sophomores assigned to the Academic Support program may have a diagnosed learning difference or disability and benefit from various interventions.

Other students may need support in developing study habits, building organizational skills to manage the workload, and dealing with the expectations of teachers beyond their prior educational experience.

Qualifications:

- Bachelor's degree with a major in education or an education related field
- Experience working with learning differences and/or Special Education
- Teaching experience in a classroom setting

The Academic Support teacher will work closely with the Director of Learning Services.
